About Digital Welcome

Digital Welcome is a project for migrants and refugees. It developed a training programme combining different IT skills adapted to the needs of migrants and refugees.

We wanted those skills to be useful, relevant to their context and help them to integrate in the new country. The programme is for young refugees or asylum seekers who want to improve their language and digital skills.

The training is 60 hours and includes 4 modules:

- Introduction to coding
- Digital storytelling
- Digital journalism
- Soft skills and communication

Participants also learn how to animate workshops on those topics. At the end of the course, they organise IT workshops for local people or other refugees.

Testimonies

"I helped older ladies. I showed them how to search for free pictures, download them and turn them into a movie. It's a new experience for me to be a trainer." - Freshte

"I appreciate every moment we spent during our sessions. It really helped me not only because I learned a lot, but also because I found consolation when I talked through the training and the creation of the digital story of my journey." - Yaman

"I like everything that I'm learning here. Learning is important to me, because I wasn't able to study much in the Ivory Coast. I have understood that to improve one's life it is necessary to study. It's important for me to help others like me with my new knowledge." - Famaga
